Wiki: Stephen Hawking at NASA - Date unknown (1999, 2001, or 2003)

As Examiner.com reported on January 25, 2010, "Scientists at UK Royal Society ET conference are unaware of the extraterrestrial presence on Earth."

Alfred Lambremont Webre reported that "Scientists presenting at the Royal Society [conference on extraterrestrial life in January 2010] present a darker evolutionary picture of the threat of extraterrestrial civilizations visiting Earth. Simon Conway Morris, professor of evolutionary paleobiology at Cambridge University, is quoted as stating that 'Extra-terrestrials might not only resemble us but have our foibles, such as greed, violence and a tendency to exploit others' resources. And while aliens could come in peace they are quite as likely to be searching for somewhere to live, and to help themselves to water, minerals and fuel.' Open scientific discussion about the existence of extraterrestrial life is reportedly encouraged in this conference. At the same, the Royal Society conference involves mainstream scientists who seem largely unaware of the evidence for an existing extraterrestrial presence on Earth at this time."

Stephen William Hawking, CH, CBE, FRS, FRSA, elected member of the Royal Society in 1974, a lifetime member of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences, recipient of the U.S. Presidential Medal of Freedom, Fellow of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, a Distinguished Research Chair at the Perimeter Institute for Theoretical Physics in Waterloo, Ontario, and Lucasian Professor of Mathematics at the University of Cambridge for thirty years, has now repeated fellow Cantabrigiensis professor Simon Conway Morris public ignorance of the documented presence of extraterrestrial civilizations on Earth at this time.

"To my mathematical brain, the numbers alone make thinking about aliens perfectly rational," Prof. Hawking stated on April 25, 2010. "The real challenge is to work out what aliens might actually be like."

"We only have to look at ourselves to see how intelligent life might develop into something we wouldn't want to meet. I imagine they might exist in massive ships, having used up all the resources from their home planet. Such advanced aliens would perhaps become nomads, looking to conquer and colonise whatever planets they can reach," Hawking says.

"If aliens ever visit us, I think the outcome would be much as when Christopher Columbus first landed in America, which didn't turn out very well for the Native Americans," the scientist says. While there may be benign aliens out there, Hawking says trying to make contact is "a little too risky".

As expected, Hawking's statements have drawn a wide spectrum of public responses.

There is, however, plausible contextual evidence, that Stephen Hawking's carefully crafted statements as a protégé of the Royal Society may in fact be a component of a long-term psychological operation ("psyops") by U.K. military intelligence to brainwash the human population into fear-driven support of the weaponization of space, and acceptance of a possible false flag war in space against a hyperdimensional extraterrestrial civilization which is being groomed as a foe of humanity's sovereignty over Earth's 3rd dimension.

Hawking's statement on ET civilizations

Hawking and the Royal Society

Hawking is one of the youngest members ever to be inducted into the Royal Society, the U.K.'s academy of sciences. One source states, "In 1974 Hawking was inducted into the Royal Society. The Royal Society traditional induction ceremony includes the new members walking on stage and signing a ledger book. This book goes back to the earliest days of the society with even the signature of Sir Isaac Newton. When Hawking was inducted, the tradition was broken when Sir Alan Hodgkin, the president of the Royal Society, carried the book to where Hawking was seated for his signature. The entry of Hawking into the Royal Society is an achievement that cannot be overstated, when one considers that he was not expected to live beyond twenty--five years of age. Hawking still believes that being inducted into the Royal Society was the proudest moment of his career."

FIG. B - Wiki: Temple of the Rosy Cross - Invisible College symbol

Founded in November 1660, "The Royal Society of London for the Improvement of Natural Knowledge, known simply as the Royal Society, is a learned society for science, and is arguably the oldest such society in existence.... It was granted a Royal Charter by King Charles II as the 'Royal Society of London'. The Society was initially an extension of the 'Invisible College', with the founders intending it to be a place of research and discussion. The Society today acts as a scientific advisor to the British government, receiving a parliamentary grant-in-aid. The Society acts as the UK's Academy of Sciences, and funds research fellowships and scientific start-up companies."

One source states that "The Invisible College was a precursor to the Royal Society of the United Kingdom. It consisted of a group of natural philosophers (scientists) including Robert Boyle, John Wilkins, John Wallis, John Evelyn, Robert Hooke, Christopher Wren, William Petty and Jose Rizal. In letters in 1646 and 1647, Boyle refers to 'our invisible college' or 'our philosophical college'. The society's common theme was to acquire knowledge through experimental investigation."

Figure B (above) sets out the Rosicrucian emblematic image of the Invisible College, known as the Temple of the Rose Cross. One source states, "Rosicrucianism is the theology of a secret society of mystics, said to have been founded in late medieval Germany by Christian Rosenkreuz. It holds a doctrine 'built on esoteric truths of the ancient past", which, "concealed from the average man, provide insight into nature, the physical universe and the spiritual realm.' It is symbolized by the Rosy Cross. Between 1607 and 1616, two anonymous manifestos were published, first in Germany and later throughout Europe. These were Fama Fratemitatis RC (The Fame of the Brotherhood of RC) and Confessio Fratemitatis (The Confession of the Brotherhood of RC). The influence of these documents, presenting a "most laudable Order" of mystic-philosopher-doctors and promoting a 'Universal Reformation of Mankind', gave rise to an enthusiasm called by its historian Dame Frances Yates the 'Rosicrucian Enlightenment'. Rosicrucianism was associated with Protestantism and in particular Lutheranism. According to historian David Stevenson, it was also influential to Freemasonry as it was emerging in Scotland. In later centuries, many esoteric societies have claimed to derive their doctrines, in whole or in part, from the original Rosicrucians. Several modern societies, which date the beginning of the Order to earlier centuries, have been formed for the study of Rosicrucianism and allied subjects.”

The 1974 initiation of Stephen Hawking into the Royal Society was thus functionally his initiation into an institution with a Masonic, rather than a scientific, legacy.

Cantabs Stephen Hawking and Simon Conway Morris as Royal Society protégés on extraterrestrials

It may be more than a curious coincidence that both Simon Conway Morris, professor of evolutionary paleobiology at Cambridge University and a keynote speaker at the Royal Society January 2010 conference on extraterrestrial life at the, and Stephen Hawking, Lucasian Professor of Mathematics at the University of Cambridge for thirty years and one of the youngest members ever to be inducted into the Royal Society, should parrot each other with almost the same verbatim observations about the dangers of interacting with all extraterrestrial civilizations.

It is not unreasonable to consider that, as Royal Society protégés, Stephen Hawking and Simon Conway Morris and may be intellectual stalking horses for U.K. military-intelligence, which wants to portray extraterrestrials as hostile in order to promote the weaponization of space, and to continue the truth embargo of the extraterrestrial presence of Earth.

As Examiner.com reported on March 1, 2010 in UK releases past UFO reports, will destroy future UFO reports, avoids government ET/UFO 'conspiracy', “the implications of a secret November 11, 2009 U.K. Ministry of Defence Memorandum and the latest U.K. UFO data dump [are] more stonewalling and psychological displacement about the extraterrestrial and UFO issue. With its twin actions of (1) shutting down the U.K. Ministry of Defence public UFO reports desk and (2) adopting a secret policy of destroying all UFO reports after 30 days, the U.K. Ministry of Defence has effectively adopting a public response profile and policy of the U.S. Department of Defense. It has done so with a psyops show of mock paranoia toward the exopolitical research community, and a false note of ‘no inter-governmental communication regarding the extraterrestrial presence’. All of this has the impact of, and is most probably calculated to, result in more official obfuscation and stonewalling regarding the extraterrestrial presence.

“Events like January 2010 U.K. Royal Society meeting on extraterrestrial life and actions like the U.K. Ministry of Defence shut-down of its public UFO desk appear to be a calculated obfuscation of the extraterrestrial presence. Conventional-minded observers have stated that events like the January 2010 U.K. Royal Society meeting on extraterrestrial life are in fact a preparation for extraterrestrial disclosure, by providing a public platform for mainstream scientists to state their views on the extraterrestrial presence.

“In fact, the Royal Society conference involved mainstream scientists who seem largely unaware of the evidence for an existing extraterrestrial presence on Earth at this time.”

Stephen Hawking may be part of a U.K. military intelligence psyops

In this larger context, Stephen Hawking's April 25, 2010 public statements about extraterrestrial civilizations can be plausibly interpreted as a part of a larger psyops – psychological operation – by U.K. military intelligence to use Hawking's carefully crafted profile as Royal Society protégé in brainwashing the human population into fear-driven support of the weaponization of space, and acceptance of a possible false flag war in space against a hyperdimensional extraterrestrial civilization which is being groomed as a foe of humanity's sovereignty over Earth's 3rd dimension.

How to evaluate information about the ethical intentions of extraterrestrial civilizations

1. U.K. Royal Society source – Be extremely cautious and skeptical of any information or opinions about extraterrestrial civilizations that is sourced by scientists or organizations connected with the U.K. Royal Society, which is dominated by a Masonic network connected to the British monarchy, military-intelligence agencies, and City of London financial institutions. Seattle's relationship to Exopolitics and this article: According to Examiner.com, this reporter -Alfred Lambremont Webre - is "one of two experts in the field of exopolitics and this topic doesn't generally lend itself to a local angle". This reporter is very proud to have this Exopolitics Examiner column based in Seattle. Historically, "the modern phenomena of UFOs and 'flying saucers' began in Washington state on June 24, 1947, when Kenneth Arnold spotted nine mysterious, high-speed objects 'flying like a saucer would' along the crest of the Cascade Range near Mount Rainier. His report made international headlines and triggered hundreds of similar accounts of 'flying saucers' locally and across the nation." A local Seattle connection is thus embedded into every Examiner.com article this reporter has the privilege to write for our Seattle audience.
